The change of status process currently takes eight to twelve months to be adjudicated by USCIS. If you would like to change from B1/B2 visitor's visa to F-1 student visa, please be aware that this change is not often approved unless the visitor has "prospective student" written on it and could result in receiving a notice form USCIS to depart the U.S. NOTE: A person who has changed status while in the U.S., and intends to travel outside the U.S., must obtain a new entry visa from a U.S. Consulate or Embassy before returning to the U.S.
